

What Adjusted Compensation Bill Provides

With growing interest evidenced in the fate of the soldiers' adjusted compensation bill in Congress, a number of ex-servicemen have found as well as others who are not familiar with the provisions of the pending measure and who still regard the bill as one authorizing the payment of a cash sum in the form of a "bonus." Proponents of the bill and the American Legion as an institution have been striving to differentiate between the "bonus" bill as it was first named and the measure now actually pending. The main provisions of the bill to be voted on and which is advocated by the Danville Post of the American Legion are outlined as follows:

1. Adjusted Service Pay: This is the only cash benefit provided for in the Adjusted Compensation Bill. It is payable only to men whose adjusted service credit, after deducting the $50 discharge bonus, comes to $50 or less. Roughly, it affects only men who served less than four months. (This provision must be accepted by veterans who are not entitled to more than $50.)

2. Adjusted Service Certificates: These certificates are paid-up endowment insurance policies, payable at the end of twenty years to the veteran if he is still alive, or, if he dies in the interval, to his estate. The certificates would have a redemption value at the end of the twenty-year period of 75 per cent. of the whole plus 1-2 per cent. interest compounded annually. This would come to 3.65 the value of the adjusted service credit. Adjusted service certificates would have a loan value on the following basis: For the first three years the certificate holder would be allowed to borrow 75 per cent. of the value of the certificate; after three years 87 1-2 per cent. plus interest. In case of failure to pay premiums in full, the certificate holder would not lose his certificate. The Secretary of the Treasury would be required to take them up and veterans would have the option of redeeming them by paying 100 per cent. interest. This provision to remain in effect during the twenty-year life of the certificate.

3. Vocational Training Aid: This provision allows the veteran to apply his adjusted service credit, computed in this option at $1.75 a day, to complete an education interrupted by the war.

4. Farm or Home Aid: Veterans who wish to make improvements on city or suburban homes, or purchase or make payments on city homes or farms or pay off landed indebtedness may receive adjusted service credits based on the length of service increased by 25 per cent.

TO MARCH AGAINST REBELS IN OIL REGION

TAMPIO, Jan. 5.—Five thousand government troops under command of General Espinosa Cordoba arrived here today from Monterey and other points to march against the rebels in the oil region. The column which consists of two battalions of infantry, a regiment of cavalry and one of artillery will leave tomorrow, beginning an immediately attack upon the rebels and initiating an advance toward Tampico on the coast 80 miles south of Tampico. Government troops which are under rebel control are being detained here. Conditions in state of Tamaulipas are normal.

Stubborn coughing

CITY WONDERS AT NEW HOME

RIGHT: U. S. EPPERSON, ABOVE HOME HE HAS JUST BUILT, TO THIS TOWN'S MISTIFICATION.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 7.—When U. S. Epperson, wealthy resident of Kansas City, decided to spend several of his declining years building a magnificent home, he took into consideration the fact that he and his wife, well along in years, could not expect to occupy the home very long. So Epperson arranged that the home be so constructed that it could be used for institutional purposes after the death of himself and his wife. The home, recently completed at a cost of nearly half a million dollars, contains 40 rooms that can be used for hospital wards or for other purposes. At present, the aged couple, who are childless, occupy the mansion with a few servants.

What charitable or medical organization is to get the house on the death of Epperson is not known publicly. In fact, it is not known that any will get it. But the fact remains that the home is so built that it can be converted easily into a hospital or orphanage. The fact also remains that Epperson frankly stated when he began work on the home that he and his wife did not expect to occupy it many years.

So Kansas City continues to wonder.

INTERESTING OLD PAPER EXHIBITED; PUBLISHED IN 1862

J. W. Turner of this community, a Confederate veteran while on a recent visit to Norfolk secured an interesting old copy of the National Intelligencer newspaper published in years ago at Washington, bearing the date of December 16th 1862. The four-page, six column newspaper was devoted principally to accounts of the civil war engagements then taking place, one of these being a lengthy Associated Press dispatch telling of the battle at Fredericksburg, the advice being none too reassuring from the Union point of view. Editorially the newspaper deplored the unusually heavy casualty lists. One or two different minor successes of the Southern causes were detailed, with descriptive accounts of the battles from staff correspondents. The paper proclaimed the discovery of gold in British Columbia and the arrival in London of a live gorilla. A lengthy dispatch from Danville, Ky., told of the discovery of oxygen gas which has become vital in the world of medicine and in modern methods of resuscitation.

One of the "stories" of the day was a belated account of the estate of Port Royal, Martinique, of the "Pirate Ship Alabama" and the circumstances attending up to it. The paper contained no display advertisements since the value of newspaper advertising had not been realized then there was a "good sprout" of professional announcements and other official announcements in connection with the purchase of supplies for the further carrying on of the war.

CREDITORS REQUEST BOND, MORTGAGE HOUSE BE CLOSED

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Charging that the assets of the Kurt R. Beak Company are approximately $400,000 and the liabilities close to a million dollars, attorneys for some of the heaviest creditors today filed a petition in the federal court asking that the bond and mortgage house be declared bankrupt. It is charged in the petition that the Beak Company, notably Beak himself, transferred important sums of money to favored individuals to avoid meeting the claims of creditors.

Charles A. Wathier, former president of the Reliance State Bank, is alleged to have received a large portion of this money. Other amounts are said to have been conveyed to the Frontier Mortgage Company, the Buffalo Discount Company and the Granite City Mortgage Company, all of New York state. It is charged that Beak knew his company was insolvent when he made these transfers. Indictments against Beak, Wathier, were returned in court today. They charge conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses and bank and Miller are charged with forgery.

MERGER OF ALL 'PHONE SYSTEM OF WORLD PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Important financial interests in the United States have undertaken a project for the consolidation of telephonic communication systems throughout the world. It was learned officially here today. Considerable progress already has been made in negotiations for the acquisition of companies in the western hemisphere and overtures also have been made in Italy, France, Spain, Belgium, Germany and several other countries.

It is expected that impetus will be given the amount as a result of discussions and negotiations incident to the meeting in Mexico City of the Inter-American Electrical Communications Conference which convenes on March 21.

The moving spirit in this gigantic enterprise, it is understood, is the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, which is associated with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Through these two groups control of telephonic communication in the greater part of Canada, the United States, Cuba, Porto Rico, Uruguay and part of Argentina and Chile already is held.

Those behind the movement are understood to be encouraged by the prospects of doing business in Italy and Spain, where the more recent policies inaugurated seem to tend away from government control and toward private ownership and operation. This is especially true in Italy, where Premier Mussolini apparently has adopted an absolute policy of divorcing the government from business enterprises.

RUMBLING OF A SCANDAL IN AFFAIRS OF RUBBER CO.

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
LONDON, Jan. 5.—The rumblings of an impending scandal in the management of the affairs of the Dunlop Rubber Company, capitalized at over 26,000,000 pounds ($112,450,000) culminated in a thunderclap tonight when a circular was issued signed by five directors of the company calling an extraordinary meeting of the shareholders within a few days to pass a vote of confidence in their directors in action which they have taken against the president and several present and former directors of the company, against whom grills had been issued in respect to certain transactions in which they were involved. This action was taken in consequence of a report of a special committee appointed in March, 1922, and granted the widest powers in September of the same year to investigate the circumstances under which the enormous loss of over $20,000,000 was incurred in 1921.

This loss was reported in a meeting in February, 1922, and came as a shocking blow to the shareholders, who had been indulging for six years in the belief that the company was sound and prosperous. The committee's report was made last September but was not published.

The board of directors have charged the validity of the report on which the shareholders have been misled. A survey of $12,000,000 yearly, free from tax. While there have been no serious charges against the company in respect to transactions in which it was involved.

DR. H. C. HENRY TO SUCCEED BREWERY

PETERSBURG, Va., Jan. 6.—Dr. H. C. Henry, first assistant physician at the Central State Hospital for many years, has been selected as superintendent of the institution succeeding Dr. William F. Brewery who recently resigned to become city manager of Petersburg. The selection was made by the board of directors of the hospital at a meeting held in Richmond last week.

Negro Weeps When He Loses Machine

Lexie Robertson, well known negro bootlegger and factotum of parts west bitter tears yesterday afternoon at the courthouse when he had been apprised of the confiscation of his Chandler touring car, which he had "loaned" to Stanley Scales, negro, to carry "trucks" to across So-and-So. Scales, it seems, utilized the occasion and the car to transport liquor, one-half gallon certainly, this amount being found in the car by officers, and how much more is not known.

Then Robertson, who is somewhat of a character, especially at the courthouse where he has spent many hours on trial for this and the other things, burst out crying and said: "I should have told that he probably would lose his car. He then proceeded to rake Scales over the coals for carrying liquor, reminding him of his off-repeated infidelity that the 'car' should never be used for transporting liquor. During the tirade Scales said nothing.

U. S. SHIP LOST IN BLACK SEA; CREW RESCUED

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 5.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Post cables under yesterday's date, say that the captain of the American steamer Wilson, which has just arrived at the Turkish city, reports that two Russian boats rescued the crew of the Wilson, which has been reported lost in the Black sea.

The message adds that the Gonolios struck a floating mine 135 miles off a port on the Russian coast of the Black sea Friday of last week.

EDWIN HUGHES TO APPEAR THURSDAY

Averett college, it is understood, has taken up the matter of negotiating the purchase of a new concert grand Knabe piano for the college chapel. If the piano is purchased, it will be the largest instrument of the kind in the city, measuring approximately nine feet in length. The great pianist, Leopold Godowsky used the piano for the special at Lynchburg, and the piano is being brought to Danville for the recital by Edwin Hughes, pianist of New York, who will appear at Averett college on Thursday of this week. The retail price of the piano which is the largest instrument made by the American Piano company, is said to be considerably over $2,000. Such a piano should prove a welcome acquisition to the community as well as to the college. Those who attend the Edwin Hughes recital on Thursday evening will have the pleasure of hearing the piano at the best advantage during the present season.

I figure it this way—if the flour cannot get out dirt cannot get in

An illuminating article explaining ROPAX—the Sanitary Rope Paper Sacks, by Mrs. J. E. H., an experienced housewife of Richmond, Va.

ANY porous container for flour lets flour get out and impurities get in. That's why flour goes through your sieve but not your mixing bowl. For exactly the same reason flour will not sift through ROPAX—the Sanitary Rope Paper Sacks. Dirt and impurities cannot sift in.

SAFETY FOR THE FAMILY

Every time I see my little girl eating homemade bread I rejoice that I have found the way to protect the flour that I use. From the time a bag of flour leaves the mill until we get it, it is exposed to impurities, to dirt, odors, dust, rain and careless handling.

To be perfectly frank, under such conditions, I don't like to take the chance with flour that has been unprotected.

WHY TAKE THE CHANCE?

And when you come right down to it, why should any housewife take that chance? Why should we force our families to take that chance when it's so easy to ask the grocer for flour in ROPAX—the Sanitary Rope Paper Sacks—and when you and I can actually save money by securing this better protection?

MADE FROM ROPE

Rope paper is so tough, so wear-resisting, you will hardly realize that it is paper. The reason for its toughness is that it is made of Manila rope, unraveled and made into fibre.

GROCERS WILL SUPPLY YOU

My grocer knows without my telling him any more that I will not accept flour without the unfailing protection of ROPAX—the Sanitary Rope Paper Sacks. Your grocer can supply you with the same protection. If he hasn't the flour in the rope paper sacks, he can get it and he will get it gladly.

FREE SHOPPING BAG

If you will write me, I will send you free of charge, a convenient shopping bag made of the sanitary rope paper. This will give you a chance to see for yourself the wonderful strength of rope paper; to say nothing of the fact that the shopping bag itself will be useful in dozens of different ways. Simply address me as Mrs. J. E. H., 1121 Bank Street, Richmond, Virginia.

The following brands of flour can be obtained in ROPAX—the Rope Paper Sacks.

THORNY PROBLEMS WILL COME UP FOR ACTION BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Members Arriving in Richmond For Sixty-Day Session Beginning Noon Wednesday—Governor's Message Is An Innovation

(Special to The Bee) RICHMOND, Jan. 5.—With but two days remaining before they will caucus for the election of officers, members of the General Assembly were arriving by every train today and by night all but a few of the 140 should be in the quarters they will occupy for the next sixty days.

Both houses will be called in order at noon Wednesday and after the transaction of routine business, which will consume something more than an hour's time, the governor will be notified that the General Assembly is prepared to convene in joint session to receive whatever communication he may desire to make.

The governor's message, which came from the printer's Saturday, is understood to contain something of an innovation in the shape of an agenda giving a vest-pocket review of the activities of every department, board and institution of the State government for the past two years. It is supposed that this new wrinkle in gubernatorial messages is intended to offset the criticism aroused by the State's comparative backwardness in the matter of roads and schools by pointing to the number of really worth while achievements made in various fields during the closing biennium.

For the first time in the history of the Virginia Legislature, a woman will sit in its councils. Happily, there will be two of them, Mrs. Sarah Lee Fain and Mrs. Helen T. Henderson, to share the honor and the consequent conspicuousness of being the first woman to enter these precincts hitherto sacred to the male.

To these two women members, Franklin Williams, of Fairfax county, has extended the cordial welcome of the House. Being the first member of the legislature to establish himself in Richmond preparatory to the coming session, Mr. Williams hastened to express himself on the subject, and on both of the newly-elected women delegates, he said, "will be gladly welcomed to the House of Commons on Schools and Colleges, of which I am chairman. Should the direction of that body again be entrusted to my care, I feel that its strength and efficiency would be greatly increased by such an addition."

Mr. Williams, always an advocate of equal suffrage and a patron of law, succeeds in a long line of honorable men to a seat in the assembly first occupied by George Mason, author of Virginia's bill of Rights.

The report of the Commission on Simplification and Economy will be placed on the desks of the members either the first day of the session or the day thereafter. This report is expected to play a big part in the coming session, as it is the product of a sentiment which has been growing for years. The necessity for simplifying the State Government for applying business principles to the conduct of the Commonwealth's affairs—undoubtedly is recognized by many members of both branches of the assembly.

Tax simplification, which is one of the salient features of the commission's report, is expected to be the big issue. Regardless of the nature of the commission's recommendation, a vigorous body of men in both branches will fight for the establishment of a tax commission, which shall be charged with the duty of equalling assessments on real estate and tangible personal property.

Although no definite program has been announced by the friends of higher education, it is expected that a determined drive will be made to obtain funds needed by Virginia's famous institutions to maintain their standards and continue to grow as the colleges in other States are growing.

With these thorny problems, the legislature will have to consider the matter of finding sufficient money to keep the pay-as-you-go road program going. Results are expected by the big majority who voted for this method of financing highway building, and the failure to obtain results cannot but result disastrously for those who won a great victory at the polls. So this session gives every indication of being the busiest in the past decade.

Approximately three times as many bills have been prepared for members of the coming General Assembly than are usually prepared in advance of a session, according to C. H. Morrisett, director of the legislative reference bureau. The number of requests received from members of the House and Senate in the neighborhood of 300, while only about 100 bills were prepared in advance of the 1922 session.

FIGHTING IS ACTIVE

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 5.—The federal war department today announced that the fighting against the Huasteca rebels is entering a period of great activity which will show people who is supreme in authority. According to intercepted radio messages, the rebel forces lack ammunition. Requests for ammunition from the rebel forces in Guerrero and the State of Mexico are being sent via Manzanillo while rebel forces in Guadalupe were told to await shipments from Vera Cruz.

It was officially stated that rebel forces commanded by Manuel Duenas appeared in the vicinity of Guanajuato, evidently with the intention of taking the city. The war department immediately ordered Generals Eugenio Ortiz, Rodolfo Gallegos and Julian to fight off the rebels. It is believed the battle will be a long and hard one, and the rebels are endeavoring to cut rail way and telegraphic communication with the north.

According to intercepted radio messages the rebel forces in the attack on Manzanillo, Guerrero, where a Martinez has been killed, are trying to replace the rebels.

Mercury Rises After Sinking To Five Degrees

water from the street when they were notified. Discomfort among householders resulted in frankish pranks. The morning's milk usually "rose up out of the bottle" and had to be changed. The refrigerator, which was a stage of ice in the family refrigerator. Foods generally were reduced to frozen particles.

One of the prettiest sights due to the cold wave was the Schofield pond where the condensing process takes place. Before the Borean blast laid its firm hold on it, spray from the jets under vegetation with a coat of ice in the vicinity and the jets themselves froze revealing sparkling and fantastic shapes in the morning sun.

W. B. Hill reported an unusual incident. He was motoring to the Golf Club in his closed car. His radiator had no alcohol in it and by the time he had reached Lovetown, the water in the radiator froze despite the heat from the engine and he was forced to abandon his car.

Mr. Watkins stated this morning that it was about December 1st, 1917 that the last unusually severe cold wave was experienced at which time the mercury went to nearly zero. He said that his records were not available at his home as they are kept in his desk in the office and he said he would not be able to get to them before late this afternoon. The government thermometer, he said, is tested by the weather bureau and is as accurate, as it is possible to make such an instrument. There are two thermometers maintained for the purpose of a double check and to record the maximum and the minimum temperature.

J. V. Perry, superintendent of the city gas works reported this morning that yesterday's consumption was 13,000 cubic feet of gas or within three thousand feet of the total consumption on Christmas eve, when the demand is always heaviest than on any other day in the year.

NORMAL WEATHER IN MIDDLE WEST AGAIN

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The middle west, plains states and northwest welcomed a return of normal temperature today while the sub-zero blasts that wrought havoc for 48 hours spent themselves in attacks on the south. But it is feared that the relief is only temporary, for colder weather again has appeared over the western Canadian provinces.

A recapitulation of the effects of the cold at Chicago shows a loss of 17 lives directly attributed to it and that the sixteen degrees below zero here broke a record of 12 years. Thermometers today had climbed more than 40 degrees from the lowest point reached, however, and generally fair weather for a few days at least is forecast.

ENTIRE SOUTH HELD ICEBOUND ON SUNDAY

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 5.—With the exception of Florida, the entire south was held icebound Sunday but the forecast indicated that the mercury would rise today.

North Carolina experienced one of its coldest days since 1913, the mercury falling to degrees below zero in the mountains and to twelve above on the coast. The Catawba river near Hickory, N. C. was frozen from banks to channel, the thermometer registering two degrees above in this section. No deaths have been reported as a result of the cold.

South Carolina throughout Sunday shivered in its coldest weather since January 1913, the temperature dropping to four above at Columbia. Reports from other points indicated similar temperatures.

Georgia suffered with the cold, especially in the northern and central parts Sunday morning registered four-tenths of a degree above zero and an aged woman was reported frozen to death. Another death of a woman whose clothing caught on fire was also attributed to the cold wave. One negro was reported frozen to death, a white girl and a negro were burned to death while trying to keep warm as a result of the low temperature of Saturday night and early Sunday in Macon, Ga.

FAIL TO FIND ANY TRACE OF DRIFTING SHIP

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The coast guard cutters Manning and Macgregar and the mine sweeper Owl had failed much longer in their search for the disappeared battleship Louisiana, which broke apart Saturday with seven men aboard while being towed from Philadelphia to be scrapped under the arms limitation treaty.

The Louisiana was anchored about 80 miles north of Cape Charles when the tug Wood and Peerslee, which had her in tow, were forced to seek shelter from a strong northeasterly wind and the steamship Herbert J. Pratt reported last night that it had passed the battleship about 15 miles off the cape. The Louisiana, which had been sold to a private concern for junk and was manned by a civilian crew, was not fitted with wireless and naval officers here expressed the opinion that the wind and ocean currents might have carried her ashore.

"GO TO THE FARM, NOT THE CITY"

By GEORGE BRITT

(NRA Service Writer.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Your true cosmopolite these days isn't the polished city dweller but the farmer.

The city dweller's outlook often is bound by the walls of his own office or apartment. The farmer, with attention forced to far away lands by his dependence on export trade, is necessarily a world citizen.

Authority for that statement is Gray Silver, farmer from Apple Pie Ridge, near Martinsburg, W. Va., the Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, just returned from observing European conditions at first hand.

GRAY SILVER.

Agriculture Against Isolation. "Isolation" summarizes all the Silver, speaking to and for his farmers.

SEINE IS STILL RISING; SLOWER

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 5.—The Seine was still rising this afternoon, but more slowly than recently. It has reached a stage of 23 1-2 feet above normal, slightly exceeding the official prediction of the maximum flood height to be reached today or tomorrow. The frost that has set in, however, with the cessation of rain, indicates that the flood attained almost its extreme height, according to the officials, and that the recession will begin in a few days.

does not want. Such is the message in his report on the trip abroad, and the tenor of his conversation while visiting farm bureau headquarters here.

"The export market consumes about one-third the production of the American farmer's land," says Silver. "Take away that market and the farmer would have to reduce his output by one-third. This would mean a third of the farmers would go completely bankrupt, or else a third of each farm would revert to weeds and brush. The farmer simply has to watch his market."

We're In Same Boat

"Now we are faced by a decline of prosperity in Europe, a slump in purchasing power and a falling off in output of manufactured goods. My observation convinces me that unless industrial Europe can get to work again at full speed and efficiency, our markets there are bound to keep on dwindling. We are in the same boat with those countries over there."

"Furthermore, the interest of agriculture in the export market is the common interest of the American people. The rest of the people in the

"With all internal debts paid off by cheap marks, Germany can begin to make her factories hum, as soon as there is stability as to whether she will have to pay. My personal belief is that America can help toward that object without risk of any harmful entanglements."

"On the point of tariff and credits, the farmer is not asking anything more than other citizens have received. The theory of those systems is that they are to help the needy fellow in the farmer. CONGRESS NOW HAS WAY CLEAR FOR MAIN ISSUES

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Congress still awaiting important legislation from its committees, had the way cleared today for discussion of important domestic and international issues.

Taxes and prohibition were subjects of set speeches in the house while in the senate the question of recognition of the soviet government of Russia was up for discussion.

Chairman Lodge, of the foreign relations committee, had prepared an address in support of the administration's policy of non-recognition and Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, had prepared a reply in support of his recognition resolution.

Two members of the ways and means committee, which is considering the Mellon tax bill, had time allotted them for presentation to the house of their views on revenue legislation.

Texas ranking democrat on the committee, was proposed to elaborate on the bill for the Mellon proposal, while Representative Frear, of Wisconsin, a leader in the Republican insurgent group, intended to go into details of what he believed should be done in amending the present law.

Another row over prohibition was threatened by the determination of Representative Hill, Republican, Maryland, to make sharp answer to the address last week of Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, who demanded that all government officers, high and low, strictly observe the Volstead act.

Another row over prohibition was threatened by the determination of Representative Hill, Republican, Maryland, to make sharp answer to the address last week of Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, who demanded that all government officers, high and low, strictly observe the Volstead act.

At least half a dozen house committees, confronted with important legislation, renewed their efforts to report to the house this week and there was prospects that the first appropriation bills, at least would come up for consideration on the floor before the end of the week.

Meanwhile, house Republicans will be faced with a decision as to whether they are to put the soldiers bonus ahead of the tax revision program. A petition for a party conference Thursday night, containing more than the required number of signatures has been presented to chairman Anderson, of the conference, who is expected to issue the formal call in a day or two.

Confronted with the necessity of making a report to the house next Monday as to revision of the house rules, the rules committee speeded up its consideration of various suggestions ordered by Republican insurgents, Democrats and regular organization members.

TEXT OF THE PEACE PLAN WHICH WON BOK'S PRIZE

Full Text of Plan.

The complete manuscript of Plan No. 1469, providing for cooperation between the United States and other nations "to achieve and preserve the peace of the world" is given below, including the author's reasoning:

Plan Number 1469.

There is Not Room for More Than One Organization to Promote International Cooperation.

Five-sixths of all nations, including about four-fifths of mankind, have already entered into some organization for the purpose of which is "to promote international cooperation and to achieve international peace and security."

Those nations cannot and will not abandon this system which has now been actively operating for three and a half years. If leading members of the United States Government ever had serious hopes that another association of nations could be formed, such hopes were dispelled during the Washington Conference by plain intimations from other Powers that there is not room for more than one organization like the League of Nations.

The States outside the organized world are not of such a character that the United States could hope to cooperate with them for the purpose named.

Therefore, the only possible path of cooperation in which the United States can take an increasing share is that which leads toward some form of agreement with the world as now organized, called the League of Nations.

By sheer force of social international gravitation, such cooperation becomes inevitable.

The United States Has Already Gone Far in Cooperation With the League of Nations.

The United States Government, theoretically maintaining a policy of isolation, has actually gone far, since March 4, 1921, toward "cooperation with other nations to achieve and preserve the peace of the world."

The most familiar part of the story is the work of the Washington Conference, wherein President Harding's Administration made a beginning of naval disarmament, opened to China a prospect of rehabilitation and joined with Great Britain, Japan and France to make the Pacific Ocean worthy of its name.

Later came the recommendation that the United States should adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Not long after that action President Harding wrote to Bishop Gairdner: "I do not believe any man can confront the responsibility of a President of the United States and yet adhere to the idea that it is possible for our country to maintain an attitude of isolation and aloofness in the world."

But since the proposed adherence to the Permanent Court would bring this country into close contact at one time and point with the League of Nations, and since such action is strenuously opposed for exactly that reason, it is pertinent to inquire not only how much cooperation with the League and its organs has been proposed during the life of the present Administration, but also how much has been actually begun.

Officially or Unofficially the United States Is Represented on Many League Commissions.

The United States Government has accredited its representatives to sit on members "in an official and consulting capacity" upon four of the most important social welfare commissions of the League, viz: Health, Opium, Traffic in Women and Children, and Anthrax (Industrial Hygiene).

Our Government is a full member of the International Hydrographic Bureau, an organ of the League. Our Government was represented by an "unofficial observer" in the Brussels Conference (Finance and Economic Commission) in 1920. It sent its representative to the meeting of the Opium Commission last May.

Our Public Health Service has taken part in the Serological Congresses of the Epidemics Commission and has helped in the experimental work for the standardization of serums.

Our Government collaborates with the League Health Organization through the International Office of Public Health at Paris, and with the Agriculture Committee of the League Labor Organization through the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome.

In February, 1923, Secretary Hughes and President Harding formally recommended that the Senate approve our adherence to the Permanent Court under four conditions: 1. Reservations, one of which was that the United States should officially participate in the election of judges by the Assembly and Council of the League, sitting as electoral colleges for that purpose.

Unofficial cooperation from the United States with the work of the League includes membership in five of the social welfare commissions or committees of the League, in one on economic reconstruction, and in one (Aaland Islands) which averted a war. American women serve as expert assessors upon the Opium and Traffic in Women Commissions.

Two philanthropic agencies in the United States have between them pledged more than $400,000 to support either the work of the Epidemics Commission or the League inquiry into conditions of the traffic in women and children.

How Can Increasing Cooperation Between United States and the Organized World Be Secured?

The United States being already so far committed to united councils with League agencies for the common social welfare, all of which have some bearing upon the preservation of world peace, the question before us may take this form:

How can increasing cooperation between the United States and the organized world for the promotion of peace and security be assured, in forms acceptable to the people of the United States and hopefully practicable?

The United States Can Extend Its Present Cooperation With the League's Social Welfare Activities.

Without any change in its present policy, a ready described, the United States Government could first show its willingness to cooperate similarly with the other humane and reconstructive agencies of the League. To four of these agencies that Government had already sent delegates with advisory powers. It could as properly accept invitations to accredit members with like powers to each one of the other welfare commissions. It has already received invitations from two of the latter.

It is, secondly, immediately practicable to extend the same kind of cooperation, whenever asked to do it, so as to include participation in the work of the commissions and technical committees of the Labor Organization.

The record shows that such co-operation is already begun.

The single common purpose of all these committees is the collection and study of information, on which may be based sound recommendations for national legislation.

All conventions and resolutions, recommended by the first three congresses of the International Labor Organization, have already been laid before the Senate of the United States and, except one, referred to the appropriate committee.

No different procedure would have been followed if the United States were a member of the Labor Organization of the League.

An Immediate Step Is Adherence to the Permanent Court.

A third immediately practicable step is the Senate's approval of the proposal that the United States adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice for the reasons and under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

These three suggestions for increasing co-operation with the family of nations are all within the official already adopted by our Government, and in the last case with a policy so old and well recognized that it may now be called traditional.

They do not involve a question of membership in the League of Nations as now constituted, but it cannot be denied that they lead to the threshold of that question. Any further step toward co-operation must confront the problem of direct relations between the United States and the Assembly and Council of fifty-four nations in the League.

In Actual Operation the League Employs No Force.

The personal experience of the League during its first three and a half years of life has not only wrought out, in a group of precedents, the beginnings of what might be called the constitutional law of the League, but it has also shifted the emphasis in Article X of the League Covenant from the enforcement of its provisions in its constitution, the Covenant.

At its birth the Covenant of the League bore, vaguely in Article X and more clearly in Article XVI, the impression of a government of states, rather than of nations.

Both of those Articles suggest the action of a world-state which never existed and does not now exist. How far the present League is actually removed from functioning as such a State is sufficiently evident in its dealings with Lithuania and Poland over Vilna and their common boundary, and with Greece and Italy over Corfu.

Experience in the last three years has demonstrated probably insuperable difficulties in the way of fulfilling in all parts of the world the large promise of Article X of respect to the integrity of its territory.

No one expects the League Council to try to summon armies and fleets, since it utterly failed to obtain even an international police force for the Vilna district.

Each Assembly of the League has pressed for modification of Article X. In the Fourth Assembly an attempt to adopt an interpretation of that Article in essential agreement with the Senatorial reservation on the same subject in 1920 was blocked only by a small group of weak states like Persia and Persia, which evidently attributed to Article X a protective power that it possesses only on paper.

Such States, in possible fear of unfriendly neighbors, must decide whether the preservation of a form of words in the Covenant is more vital to their peace and security, and to the peace and security of the world, than the presence of the United States at the council table of the family of nations.

As to Article XVI, the Council of the League created a Blockade Commission which worked for two years to determine how the "economic weapon" of the League could be efficiently used and uniformly applied.

The Commission failed to discover any obligatory procedure that weak or Powers would dare to accept. It was finally agreed that each State must decide for itself whether a breach of the Covenant has been committed.

The Second Assembly adopted a radically amended form of Article XVI from which was removed all reference to the possibility of employing military force, and in which the abandonment of uniform obligation was directly provided for. The British Government has since proposed to weaken the form of requirement still further.

Articles X and XVI, in their original forms, have therefore been practically condemned by the principal organs of the League and are today reduced to something like innocuous desuetude. The only kind of compulsion which nations can freely engage in to each other in the name of peace is that which arises from confidence, from moral judgment, from full publicity, and from the power of public opinion.

*Fifty-seven States, including Germany, are members of the International Labor Organization of the League. There are about sixty-five independent States in the world.

The Leadership of the United States in the New World Is Obviously Recognized by the League.

Another significant practice of the League is the unwillingness of the League Council to intervene in any American controversy, even though all states in the New World except three are members of the League.

This refusal to become entangled in the quarrel between Chile, Peru and Bolivia, a quarrel which impelled the last two States to absent themselves from the Third Assembly, where in a Chilean was chosen to preside.

Obviously the League intends to recognize the leadership of the United States in the New World precisely as the United States claims it. This is nothing less than the observance of an unwritten law limiting the powers and duties of the League Council, deemed in Article XI of the Covenant, to questions that seem to threaten the peace of the Old World. When the United States is willing to bring the two halves of the world together for friendly consideration of common dangers, duties and needs, it will be possible to secure the closest cooperation between the League and the Pan-American Union, already a potential regional league. It is conceivable that the family of nations may eventually clearly define certain powers and duties of relatively local significance which may be developed upon local associations or unions. But the world of business and finance is already unified. The world of scientific knowledge and humane effort are nearly so. Isolation of any kind is increasingly impossible, and world organization, already centralized, is more likely to be a disconnected effort than the United States is likely to revert to the Calhoun theory of States Rights and Secession.

THE AMERICAN PEACE

AWARD

342 Madison Avenue New York City

If you wish to express a fuller opinion also, please write to the American Peace Award.

In Actual Operation, If Not in Original Conception, the League Realizes the Principle and the Hopes of The Hague Conference.

The operation of the League has therefore evolved a Council widely different from the body imagined by the makers of the Covenant. It can employ no force but that of persuasion and moral influence. Its only actual powers are to confer and advise, to create commissions, to investigate, to conciliate and to help elect judges of the Permanent Court.

In other words, the force of circumstances is gradually moving the League into position upon the foundations so well laid by the world leaders between 1899 and 1907 in the great international councils of that period.

The Assemblies of the League and the Congresses of the International Labor Organizations are successors to the Hague Conferences.

The Permanent Court has at least begun to realize the highest hope and purpose of the Second Hague Conference.

The Secretariat and the Labor Office have become Continuation Committees for the administrative work of the organized world, such as the Hague Conference lacked resources to create but would have rejoiced to see.

The council, resolving loose and large theories into clean-cut and modest practice, has been gradually receding from the ideals of international conciliation, as an organized interdependence, temporarily obscured since 1914 by the shadows of the war.

No one can deny that the organs of the League have brought to the service of the world some of the best of the ideas, scope and variety of appeal that in 1914 would have seemed incredible.

It is common knowledge that public opinion and official policy in the United States have for a long time been without distinction in their favorable view of the League of Nations.

For the common welfare, and to the establishment of conciliatory, arbitral and judicial means for settling international disputes.

There is no reason to believe that the judgment and policy have been changed. Along these same lines the League is now crystalizing, as has been shown, and at the touch of the United States the process can be expedited.

In no other way can the organized world, from which the United States cannot be economically and spiritually separated, be kept together, and the opinion to the effect settlement of differences between nations and standing always ready for use.

The United States Should Participate in the League's Work Under Stated Conditions.

The United States government should be authorized to propose cooperation with the League and participation in the work of its Assembly and Council under the following conditions and reservations:

I. The United States accepts the League of Nations as an instrument of mutual counsel and of assistance to their peace and security, and to the peace and security of the world, than the presence of the United States at the council table of the family of nations.

II. The United States will assume no obligations under Article XVI, in its present form in the Covenant, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

III. The United States will assume no obligations under Article XVI, in its present form in the Covenant, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

IV. The United States proposes that Article I of the Covenant be construed and applied, or, if necessary, re-drafted, so that admission to the League shall be assured by any self-governing State that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the Assembly.

V. The Continuing Development of International Law Must Be Provided For.

VI. As a further condition of its participation in the work and councils of the League, the United States asks that the Assembly and Council consent—or obtain authority—to begin collaboration for the revision and development of international law, and to employ, for this purpose, a commission of jurists. This commission would be directed to formulate new existing rules of the law of nations, to reconcile divergent opinions, to consider points hitherto inadequately provided for but vital to the maintenance of international justice, and in general to define the social rights and duties of States.

The recommendations of the Commission would be presented from time to time, in proper form for consideration, to the Assembly as to a recommendation if not a lawmaking body.

Amendments to the conditions numbered I and II have already been discussed. Number III is a logical consequence of the refusal of the United States Senate to ratify the treaty of Versailles, and of the settled policy of the United States which is characterized in the first reservation.

Numbers IV and V this may be said, anything less than a world-conference, especially when Great Powers are excluded, must incur, in proportion to the exclusions, the suspicion

TWO PLANS FOR WORLD PEACE PRIZE SUBMITTED BY LOCAL MEN

Two plans suggested a means to secure world peace were entered from Danville for the $100,000 prize offered by Edward W. Bok. One of them was prepared by Rev. Malcolm Taylor, rector of Epiphany church, and the other by Rev. John Page Jones, pastor of Lee Street Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Jones is in Georgia at the present time and expected home tomorrow and the details of his plan could not be learned. It was based, however, on the League of Nations.

That of the Episcopal church rector was explained in a thesis of some 300 words, preceded by a summary and concluded by an argument in favor of its adoption. His plan, in brief, provided for the calling of an international conference by the president and to which all of the members of the League of Nations as now constituted would be invited to send representatives; also Ecuador, Germany, Russia, Turkey and the United States, which are not members of the league. Under the plan, this conference would prepare a programme of instructions for friendly observation of the programme to consist of a list of subjects covering all the essential aspects of every state's foreign relations, thereby bringing about a mutual understanding of the viewpoint on international affairs by every state. A committee of the conference would visit each state for the purpose of carrying out friendly observation. Each state would provide observers, not less than 15 and not more than the number of states invited to the conference. Later would come a meeting for the purpose of hearing reports of the observation committee. The reports would furnish a basis for the formulation of principles of international conduct in the form of an international agreement for world peace. This agreement, the plan provides, would then be submitted to every state in the world for acceptance and signature. It would also contain the agreement by each state to submit any dispute to this permanent court of international justice.

of being an alliance, rather than a family of nations. The United States can render service in emphasizing this lesson, learned in the Hague Conference, and in thus helping to constitute the family of nations as a reality. Such a conference or assembly must obviously bear the chief responsibility for the development of new parts of the law of nations, devised to fit changed and changing conditions, to extend the sway of justice, and to help in preserving peace and security.

Mr. Bok's award was followed by the action last week of Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, in offering $50,000 for a European competition for the best plan for restoring prosperity to the war-stricken continent. Mr. Filene frankly credited his action to inspiration received from the Bob award.

The plan was numbered 1469 and was known only by such designation to the jury, only one person, a delegated member of the jury, being cognizant of the winner's name. Through coupons printed in daily and weekly newspapers and in magazines the public will vote. Written criticisms of the plan also will be reviewed. Announcement of his $100,000 prize was made by Mr. Bok on July 1, 1923. On November 15 the contest closed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Attempts by agents of the Mexican revolutionary army to purchase munitions in the United States are expected by officials here to bring little, if any, assistance to the de la Huerta forces in their effort to overthrow the Obregon government.

WEATHER CUTS RECEIPTS AS MARKET REOPENS

The Danville tobacco market resumed operations this morning after the Christmas recess with unusually light sales, due chiefly to the excess weather conditions prevailing at the present time. Only two sales were held this morning, one at Acree's warehouse and the other at Holands, each sale lasting not more than one hour. Warehousemen who watched prices at the beginning of the after-Christmas season reported that they were higher than those prevailing here just before Christmas. This was taken as a good omen by the tobacco warehousemen who felt that the amount of tobacco which will be sold at auction on this market would depend very materially on the price level.

The two receiving stations of the Co-operative Marketing Association also opened this morning and receipts were light in them on account of the weather.

Fred W. Brown of Piedmont warehouse has returned after spending the past week in Nashville, Ga. While away he was much impressed, he stated this morning, with the preparations which Georgia farmers are making for a large tobacco crop in 1924. Everywhere, he said, farmers were abandoning cotton which is infested with the boll weevil and are preparing land for tobacco plant beds, many of them actually sowing tobacco at the present time. Other evidence of a turning from cotton to tobacco was given in the large number of new tobacco barns which are being built to house the crop. Mr. Brown stated he was told that the last tobacco crop in Georgia totaled between ten and twelve million pounds and that during the current year it is expected that the output will be doubled and that 25 million pounds will be raised. The type of leaf produced in Georgia is slow in many respects to that which is grown in the Virginia-Carolina belt.

Care of Household Pets

CANARIES II

The food requirements of canaries are simple. Canary seed, to which have been added rape seed and a little hemp, is a staple diet that can be purchased ready-mixed. A balanced food does not furnish a balanced food but forms a good combination with hemp and summer rape. Seed is given in little cups that are fastened between the wires of the cage.

In addition to a seed supply, lettuce or bit of apple should be placed between the wires of the cage frequently. And those properly situated may, in season, vary this menu by the addition of chickweed, dandelion heads, thistle and plantain seeds. Watercress, wild oats, knot grass and other greens are relished, especially in spring and early summer.

Bread, moistened in scalded milk, given cold at intervals, is beneficial. Soft foods, however, must not be made too wet. With bread, enough liquid to soften the food but not to render it a paste, is sufficient. Cuttle bone should always be available.

When canaries do not seem to thrive it is well to crack open a few of the seeds to make certain that empty husks alone are not being fed. When canaries come to sing from overfeeding it is well to supply some of the stimulating foods known as song restorers, or other prepared foods, that may be obtained from dealers.

Under normal conditions most birds bathe daily, and canaries in captivity should be allowed the same opportunity. In open wire cages, in common use for singing birds, the base is removed and the cage placed over a small dish containing water. In open front cages, small tin tins which fasten at the open door are used.

Canaries renew their covering of feathers once a year. In adults, this molt occurs during the summer, and the first sign of it may be the presence of a wing or tail feather in the bottom of the cage. Usually the birds need no special care during the molt. If a bird shows signs of distress, it should be placed at once in a warm, protected place. Ten drops of sweet spirits of niter, and a few shreds of saffron added to the drinking water are beneficial.

WILL ASK McLEAN FOR A STATEMENT

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—After considerable argument the Senate public land committee voted today to ask Edward B. McLean, the Washington publisher, for a sworn statement regarding the $100,000 he loaned to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, whose financial affairs have come under review in the course of the senate teapot dome investigation.

Recently Mr. McLean's attorney, A. Mitchell Palmer, made a statement regarding the loan but Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, insisted today that the publisher be called for personal examination. A physician's certificate was filed saying Mr. McLean's health demanded that he remain at Palm Beach, Fla.

PRECAUTION TAKEN BY ARGENTINA ON GOLD SHIPMENTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Bastled by a ton of gold, over which swarthy soldiers stood guard day and night, the steamship American Legion has arrived here with its precious treasure of $5,000,000 in gold.

Buenos Aires is the first gold legally to be exported from Argentina since the wartime embargo and, according to Munson Line officials, the largest consignment to pass between the two continents.

The gold, in 20 oaken chests bound with metal and sealed, was shipped here by the Argentine National Bank for deposit against London drafts to pay the coupons on part of the Argentine external debt. Since the debt is payable in sterling, the gold probably will be exchanged for British pounds, after which it will go into storage to remain until it is minted or rejoining the stream of bullion constantly flowing between the United States and foreign countries.

Because of the difference in the rates of exchange the government of Argentina expects to profit to the extent of about $300,000 paper pesos in New York when the gold is exchanged for pounds sterling.

Handling large shipments of gold and silver bullion has become commonplace with trans-Atlantic steamship companies and the bullion is handled as so much "merchandise."

But the shipment of a few millions from a South American country becomes a national event, and the steamship chosen for its transport is freighted with responsibility.

The removal of the $5,000,000 from the Argentine National Bank to the ship was attended by the greatest of precaution. It was rushed through the streets of Buenos Aires accompanied by guards armed with pistols, rifles and swords and hustled into the burglar-proof vaults of the American Legion. The precious cargo was under strict watch throughout the voyage. Upon arrival here similar precautions were taken, the regular police being augmented by armed guards, while the armored trucks that carried the gold to a government sub-treasury were protected by armed men.

Handling gold has become so common with the largest trans-Atlantic steamship companies and the agents of the line and even the dockmen have become blasé about handling millions of the metal. The process of loading, storing and unloading gold in international shipments has become so systematized that the factors of responsibility and risk are considered hardly more than in the transportation of a box of toys. An official of the International Mercantile Marine explained that the companies feel perfectly at ease when the gold is placed in a ship's vault. In transporting the gold to and from ships guards are usually provided by the consignor and consignee.

SCIENCE CHURCH HOLDS REPORT OF COURT INCORRECT

(By the Associated Press)

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—The committee on publication of the First Church of Christ, scientist, in a statement today pointed out that published accounts of the district court hearing at Framingham on January 2 in the case of a boy who had been treated by a Christian science practitioner were incomplete and in one instance incorrect.

"The account," the statement said, "entirely omitted the fact that the boy was attended by a physician for six weeks after his injury before a Christian science practitioner was engaged. The boy and his father were not avowed Christian scientists when the accident occurred and only decided to try Christian science after medical and surgical help had been employed for six weeks or more. The testimony did not show that the boy's leg was broken."

Judge Bridgman ruled that the boy, Walter Joyce, was a neglected child, and counsel for the Christian Science Church appealed. The boy was injured in a fall in his father's barn in Wayland. A physician testifying for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, who brought the complaint, said that an immediate operation was necessary to save the boy's leg, while the Christian Science practitioner who treated the boy said his condition had improved.

DRASTIC CHANGES IN MAJOR LEAGUES FOR COMING YEAR

DRASTIC changes are to be made in the major league schedules for 1924, according to those on the inside. The season will start about the same time April 15, but will close at least 10 days sooner than the 1923 season.

Last year's schedule was a nightmare. For some reason it was filled with open dates often three and four in succession. Lack of Sunday ball in Philadelphia and Boston was largely responsible for such a situation.

It is understood that in order to bridge over this breach the clubs have agreed that it is best to schedule regular doubleheaders in Philadelphia and Boston. This will keep the clubs up with the schedule and will not necessitate the rescheduling of several days by clubs blessed with Sunday baseball.

There is some home among the magnates that Sunday baseball in Massachusetts is not far from a thing of the past. However they are not so optimistic.

The completion of the major league schedule by Oct. 1 will permit an early start of the "world" series. The 1923 event did not get underway until Oct. 10. It is hoped the 1924 event will have been completed by that date.

CHECK BE PLACED ON WRITERS WHO ALSO ARE PLAYERS

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—On the heels of the move by the United States Lawn Tennis Association to declare ineligible players who write for newspapers and magazines, officials of the American Olympic Committee, revealed tonight, plan to check similar activities in the Olympic games at Paris this year.

This action has been under consideration for some time, in fact, since the 1920 Olympics. It was declared by the American Olympic Committee. A definite proposal to bar athletes from literary activities in connection with the games will be laid before the next meeting of the executive organization of the Olympic Committee.

It was said that a majority of Olympic authorities are in sympathy with the plan and Mr. Rouben predicted that it would be endorsed. "I believe that it is contrary to America's best interest to have athletes on our Olympic team write accounts of the games for newspapers and magazines or other periodicals," Mr. Rouben continued. "I think such activity would take up too much of an athlete's time and in the end be detrimental to his or her performance."

"It is all right for an athlete who does not make or try to put for the team to go over and write accounts of the games. But team members should devote their entire attention to their sport. The two things do not mix."

He thinks several cases in connection with the last Olympic proved this sort of thing unwise and I know that since then sentiment has been crystallizing toward definite action.

The prospective action of the Olympic Committee, however, came as a surprise to some of the athletes. It would apply to competitors in all branches of Olympic competition.

MILLIAN OF ILLINOIS

One of the best guards in the country in 1923 was McMillan, the Zuppke leader. In every game the Suckers played the giant lineman's performance was one of the big features. Much of Granger's success at the University of Illinois was due to McMillan's assistance. But the Illinois star didn't die on any of Camp's three All-America teams. McMillan may not have been as good a man as Hubbard or Harvard or Wendell of Penn State but he certainly seemed to have enough stuff to earn a position on at least one of the three selections.

TO LEAD OHIO STATORS BACK TO GRID FAME.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 7.—In the funny Bible, he's plain 'Frank Dewey Young'.

To Ohio State students, he's just "Te" Young.

In the "Who's Who" of high school and intercollegiate athletics, however, he can show you a string of achievements and a flock of titles that will make you're humble. But you'll never get him into it. "Te" is too modest. He'll talk about anything but himself.

Somewhere in the records of the U. S. Marines, if you search long enough, you'll find further trace of this same Frank D. Young. With a little more diligence you'll discover that he served 17 long months with the "Greenies" in San Domingo and that he took part in several engagements there.

That, in brief, tells most of the life story of Young, who, as captain-elect of the Ohio State University football team, is looked upon as the Moses to lead the Buckeyes out of the wilderness where they have been wandering for two long years. "Te" is a product of the famous Waite High team of Toledo. As a high school athlete he won eight letters in four sports, the most, with one exception, accumulated by a Toledo high school athlete up to 1920. Young won four letters in football at Waite High and was captain of the team in his senior year. He roamed in the outfield on the baseball nine, tossed the weights in track and held down a guard job in basketball.

When he came to Ohio State as a freshman in the fall of 1920 he was adjudged the most physically perfect freshman in a class that numbered 150. In the ensuing years "Te" has lost none of his Adonis-like attributes.

In the interim he has served at tackle and center on the varsity eleven, finally landing as a regular at the latter berth. He did not play in 1922 and consequently is available for the 1924 season.

Young, as a sophomore, also won his letter in basketball as a guard in 1921-22.

Wayland Dean to Pitch for Giants

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The New York Giants tonight announced the purchase of Wayland Dean, star right-handed pitcher of the Louisville Club of the American Association and one of the most sought-after of minor league moundmen.

Except to admit that both cash and players were involved, the Giants did not disclose details of the deal, but it was understood in baseball circles that the National League champions parted with the equivalent of about $50,000 for Dean, who won 21 games and lost 13 last season ranking second in effectiveness among American Association hurlers.

The players that the Giants will send to Louisville as part payment will be named later. Under the composed agreement arranged by the Major and American Leagues they will be subject to draft.

In taking their first important step toward bolstering the club, the Giants virtually collapsed against the Yankees in the last world series. The Giants obtained Dean by outbidding a number of rival clubs including the Brooklyn Dodgers and Yanks. The announcement, however, came as a surprise because J. J. Tierney, secretary of the Giants, denied yesterday the National League champions were bidding for the Louisville star.

BOLD BAD BANDIT CAPTURED ALIVE

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 5.—Norman (Red) Ryan, bank bandit and gunman who boasted that he never would be returned to Canada alive, was turned over to the custody of Canadian officials and under a heavy guard, crossed the boundary line today.

Ryan, who was captured a month ago in a gun fight here in which a policeman was wounded and Ryan himself shot in the shoulder, started back to a Canadian military camp Friday night, after being held in Minneapolis for several days. Ryan plans to escape from the camp.

Appeal By Cause of Tobacco Case

(Special From Tobacco Growers News)
RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 5.—Recent action in connection with the warehouse act of Virginia which forbids the sale of tobacco in any name but that of the true owner, indicates the likelihood of an appeal to the Supreme Court of the State.

Continued violations by auction warehousemen of the warehouse act, as passed by the legislature of Virginia, resulted last week in doubling the fine imposed upon offenders in South Boston from $50.00 to $100.00 a piece. Meanwhile the recent state law which, according to its adherents, prevents the sale of tobacco under a cloak has recently been upheld by the circuit court of Halifax in the decision of Justice W. R. Barstide and in the co-operation court at Danville by Judge Price Withers.

Further interest has been centered in the claims of those who advocate and oppose the sale of all tobacco in the true names of the owners by the action of Judge Whitaker in Lynchburg who, in the face of the decision of a higher court, to the contrary, declared the warehouse act unconstitutional, and refused to consider prosecutions brought before him for violation of the law.

While other auction warehousemen have specially stated in connection with the litigation that they are not runned if they are runned in the true name of their customers, officials of

LESS TRANSMISSION
TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 5.—Japan is doing much to improve her short wave wireless communication but thus far nothing to make communication with the outside world quicker.

The Funabashi naval station just outside Tokyo is being modernized and new short wave stations are being erected in China and Nippon but these are largely for communicating with ships and between different parts of Japan.

The syndicate headed by Viscount Shibusawa, which proposed erection of a trans-Pacific station, was somewhat embarrassed by the disaster but is undeterred to be inclined to go on with its project if suitable arrangements can be made with the government for a subsidy.

NEW YORK COTTON.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 10 to 23 points owing to relatively easy Liverpool cables and some further liquidation by local traders or commission houses. March sold off to 34 35 at the start and May to 34 70 but Liverpool firmed up while the opening call here was in progress and prices here rallied on overing and trade buying. March sold up to 34 65 within the first half hour and May to 34 90 or about 10 to 12 points net higher. The advance was accompanied by reports of a good spot demand in the southwest. Private cables attributed the early decline in Liverpool to lack of buying power and the unsettling influence of British political conditions.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 7.—Poor cables caused a drop of 13 to 23 points in the price of cotton in the early trading here today but soon after the opening new buying entered the market by the end of the first half hour prices were lifted 7 to 25 points over the close of last week. March fell off to 31 37 and reacted to 34 33. October fell to 27 55 and then rose to 27 95 a pound. Some of the buying appeared to be due to evening up on the short side because of the holiday here tomorrow in observance of the anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Clifford C. Robinson

NERVOUS SIGNS

The laws of health and hygiene provide for certain signs that show unmistakable evidence of one's physical or mental condition. If there is a greater demand or drain on your bodily powers than your system can stand, warning signs are displayed. If you find that your sleep is not restful and you frequently awake at three or four in the morning, unable to go to sleep again, check up on your condition at once.

Do you find yourself becoming suspicious of your business associates or are you beginning to worry over the future business prospects? Are you losing your grip, through lack of exercise? Understand that keyed up to a high pitch and giving orders to somebody about something is not exercise, no matter how leg-yearly you may be at night.

Do you sit in a hunched posture or tap on the desk or table nervously? Your circulation is probably bad, and your diet and digestion need attention at once.

In other words, you are showing nervous signs from some cause or other. Taking stock of your bodily health is far more important than any other stock-taking.

Don't resort to a dose of medicine or some dope to bolster you up for short time. This only puts off the smash a little longer. Don't take stimulants in order to drive your bodily powers. It's bad business.

Try a rest, if you can possibly get away. I don't mean away from home, but away from work, worry, and hustle. Rest is a wonder-working tonic.

Anyone inclined to a nervous condition should not eat meat more than once a day. Use plenty of green vegetables, sea-food and milk.

Avoid tea and coffee for a month or two and mark the results. Consult your physician on a program of relaxation. Learn just what complete rest means.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Seldom has the stock market absorbed selling as easily as it has since the opening session of this year. The selling was in fair sized volume representing profit taking as well as professional selling. There were recessions unpressive except in the Pan American issues and in this case there was every earmark of a well laid plan to upset the market.

Seldom has there been such unanimity of opinion with regard to the market's prospects investment as well as in the higher professional circles. Confidence is expressed, not only in words but is backed up by the continued purchase of stocks.

The season for all this is very simple. The market rests on a foundation of real reality. It has behind it the force that comes from real men and in addition to this, we have a sound technical situation.

We have in previous letters had occasion to refer to this subject to comment that brokers' loans remain moderate and therefore it is evident that a considerable percentage of the buying has been for cash and means for investors who are accustomed to carry stocks for a considerable period.

We see no reason to modify the view which have been expressing daily—that we will ultimately have a higher level of values and that the most profitable course is to buy, on all setbacks.
